

SUCCESS

Everyone in the world wants to be successful in his/her aim whatsoever it may be. The only reason for everyone to be running in the race of success is that the success brings money and respect along with it.

But no one knows about the way to success. Though it differs from person-to-person, still there is a common thing that stays constant.

The secret of success is constancy of purpose. The happiness which we are searching for, comes through reflecting on the worthy aim we are dedicated to achieve, and then taking actions daily to advance them.

It is the matter to do or die,
In front of us, the whole future lie.
It is the struggle against pleasure,
For enjoying the forthcoming leisure.
We are such a fool to aim the sun,
But the fight seems to be a fun.
There is still a long run.
So, Go on and Stop not....., till the job is done.
